The Red Fiends Retreating.

The Indian war is fast drawing to a close. Dispatches from Gen. Wheaton at La Grande say that the hostiles are demoralized and in full flight. They are trying to scatter now, but the country is well covered and they will hardly escape. From information received the hostiles have broken into three bands, the Snakes traveling up the Umatilla river towards Snake river, the Malheurs and Piutes making an effort to escape by the Daley road, where they have been already met and driven back by the command under Wheaton, whilst the Columbia River and renegades from the Umatilla and Simcoe reserves are crossing as fast as possible in small bands to the north side of the Columbia, from there mixing with Indians on the Simcoe reserve on the Yakima river, and Indians under Moses. The danger to settlers in Oregon is now greatly lessened but a panic prevails in the eastern counties. Farms are deserted with fields of ripe grain and large bands of stock.

What Tilden is Up To

New York, July 22.—A Tribune Washington special says a gentleman well acquainted with the political situation in various districts in New York State, brings intelligence that Tilden interests himself actively in laying out work for the coming campaign. His agents are already organizing with the view of carrying the Assembly, and of changing some close congressional districts. The understanding among Tilden's agents is, so far as congressional districts are concerned, that he will direct all his efforts toward work in the close Republican districts, and his aim will be to carry enough of these to make a majority of the delegation in the House Democratic. The object most prominently before the minds of these managers is, not so much to increase the Democratic majority in the next House of Representatives as to secure a majority of State delegations, with the view of the possible election of the next President by the House of Representatives.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BRANCH SUIT AND CLOAK HOUSE. Well Brothers announce to the people of Reno that they have just opened in Reno a branch of the Cleveland Suit and Cloak company. As they get their goods directly from the manufacturer they can, therefore, undersell all other Reno merchants and yet make a profit on their goods. We have no auction trash, nor do we propose to sell for twenty-five cents what is worth one dollar. We therefore take pleasure in inviting the ladies of Reno and vicinity to call and inspect our stock resting assured that we shall be able to satisfy them both in regard to price and quality of the goods. Store on east side of Virginia street, Reno, Nevada. 6-5tf WEIL BROTHERS.

L. S. BURCHARD... BUSINESS MANAGER
RENO, WASHOE COUNTY, NEVADA
TUESDAY, JULY 23, 1878

BUSINESS MANAGER.

Mr. L. S. Burchard will, from and after this date, be sole business manager for the DAILY and WEEKLY GAZETTE. He will collect all bills due for subscription, advertising and job work, and settle all accounts with this office. Parties indebted to the office are urged to make prompt settlement.
RENO, July 22, 1878.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Rev. W. E. Ijams lectured in San Francisco on Sunday morning from Hebrews xi. 6, "Without faith it is impossible to please God," etc. Mr. Ijams then goes forward to prove that his faith in principally in Mr. Ijams and that gentleman's ability to see through the religious mill-stone. Jamsey shows his trust in this way: "I think Jesus knew more than any other man about the science of religion, therefore I listen to his words with reverence, but I do not accept them simply on his dictum or bow down to them with his blind belief." Mr. I. has here introduced a delightful shade of contrast between the text and tenor of his discourse after the fashion of most salvation merchants. They borrow a text from somebody, and then proceed amiably and rather charitably to a discussion of themselves.

Concerning the prominence of the Democratic gubernatorial would-be there it just now a deal of wild guessing. There is also a manifest disposition to abuse certain ones out of the field. The Eureka boss is for Mr. Bradley and Bradley is against everybody else. The truth is that James C. Hagerman seems from all reports to be the strongest Democrat before the people. Fox is a man of unimpeachable character, but is loth to personate the gubernatorial corpse—"Don't care anything about it" Bradley has many enemies within the unwashed ranks, while Hagerman by an impersonal and considerate attitude has conciliated and bound all factions. Hagerman will be beaten as the candidate for Governor or not at all. The chances all favor his nomination.

At the Pioneer's picnic General Kittrell was called upon for a few remarks, and was particular to say: "I am here; I welcome the great remonetizer; I endorse him thus far and no farther. * * * Thanking you for my enthusiastic reception, I am—General Kittrell." The stormy General-in-law was not called upon to say whether he endorsed Jones or not, and should have realized that the assertion was without value or interest. The last remark was equally unnecessary. In the dark, or at the distance of one mile some doubt might arise as to Kittrell's identity. At ordinary distances, however, a man with ears would be painfully certain of his hombre.

Melbourne, the great commercial city of the southern hemisphere, wants to be the next stamping ground for exhibitors. She puts in her claim for the world's exposition in 1880. That puts off Carson's turn for at least two years. Speaking of these giant fairs, we are reminded of their worst feature. Each and every exhibitor is allowed by the looseness of the award to claim that he "received the highest," and also the only gold medal. This practice will be corrected when the world's fair comes to Carson, not before.

The Plumas, Lassen and Modoc district fair will commence at Susanville, Lassen county, on October 21st, and continue five days. This will be the first meeting of the society, and the programme will include racing and agricultural exhibitions. We hope that our neighbors will give us all the particulars of their fair that we may help them. District fairs are good schools for farmers, and we wish the new society a large measure of success.

The various county central committees are meeting in the eastern part of the State and settling days for the holding of primaries. The political mess is to be stirred in good shape before many weeks. Step out there, you candidates, hustle yourselves forward, Senators, and Constables, get over; Jones and Connor, make room for the boys. The dear people must be served and the candidate comes.

Sherman's request that certain witnesses be heard for the purpose of proving intimidation in West Feliciana parish has been granted by the Potter committee. The Potter committee did not find out what they wanted and now they seek to gain some sort of information with which to justify their treasonable exhibition.

An ingenious collection of paragraphs upon the number of apples eaten by Adam and Eve is going the rounds. The calculations vary from 16 to 81,896,864. We shall refer the matter to Deacon Parkinson, he was present at the time and furnished "verbum sap" for the banquet.

They want to know now whether Postmaster-General Key has paid his political assessment. Let him step out and show cause.

The pump-rod at the Julia broke down again on Saturday last. About Thursday next another stoppage will probably occur.

THE WASHOE REFORMER.

A week ago District Attorney Cain of Washoe county was reported in the Reno Journal as having said that "a bill of $373 for transcribing testimony for the Governor's office in the Rover case, which Washoe did not intend to pay, was allowed in full by Humboldt." To prevent a misunderstanding we asked the Journal for an explanation of this remark, as it seemed somewhat strange that a bill which Washoe did not intend to pay should be presented to Humboldt county, endorsed by the Clerk of the Board of Commissioners as having been allowed, and by the County Auditor as having been paid. The Journal vouchsafes no explanation of this apparently crooked transaction, and the GAZETTE confesses that in "the absence of a legal decision it is almost impossible to learn the exact truth."

It is not so difficult as the GAZETTE imagines, to learn the exact fact pertaining to this particular bill. The affidavit of P. B. Comstock that it was due Washoe county, and chargeable to Humboldt county sworn to before John B. Williams, and dated December 3d, 1877, is attached to the bill, which is endorsed as follows:

No. 3. Claim of P. B. Comstock against Washoe county, per amount claimed, $373. Filed Dec. 3d, 1878. P. B. Comstock, Clerk.
Board of County Commissioners, Reno, Dec. 3d, 1877.—Amount allowed, $373.
T. K. HYNES, Chairman.
Audited and filed December 3d, 1877, on general fund, amount, $373.
JOHN B. WILLIAMS, County Auditor.

Now, if the GAZETTE, which does not appear to be in the ring, will take the trouble to ascertain from the records of the Board of County Commissioners if such a bill was allowed on the 3d day of December, 1877, and that it was audited on that day, it can throw much light on the vexed question. If it was allowed and audited, it will prove that Washoe not only intended to pay the bill, but did pay it. If, on the other hand, the bill was not allowed, certain officers of Washoe county have been guilty of perjury and of swindling the taxpayers of Humboldt county, as is shown by affidavits now on file in the Auditor's office in Winnemucca.

We hope the GAZETTE will not let its prejudices against investigation deter it from getting the "bottom facts," as above stated, and exposing the "true inwardness" of the reformers who appear to be running Washoe county. Let the public know all the facts in the case and remove the suspicion that Washoe officials have been guilty of a criminal offense or prove that some of them ought to have quarters at the Hot Springs.—Silver State.

The facts affecting Humboldt county in this matter are easily ascertained and substantially as stated by the Silver State. The position of Washoe county in this matter, however, is not so easily established. We have no desire to discuss the matter further until the proper time arrives, when it will be investigated, root and branch. The Silver State in trying to slur Washoe jumps at conclusions and misses the mark. Our officers have not been guilty of perjury in saying that the bill was allowed and audited on the day named. That concerns Humboldt. The fact that the claim was sworn to as wholly due and chargeable against Washoe, taken with the assertion that "Washoe never intended to pay it," looks crooked, and that concerns Washoe. If the claim was not just, why was it allowed? If Washoe will not pay it, of which fact we are assured, why was it collected from Humboldt? People here know how this affair stands; if the officers wish to answer these questions the GAZETTE will listen. It is a grave matter and should be straightened out. We should like to hear from Auditor Williams.

A grain fire near Livermore, California, on the 19th caused a loss of $2,000; uninsured.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Jottings.

— Deputy Sheriff Ike Chamberlain is organizing a party for a hunting and fishing trip to Grizzly valley.

— Another car-load of North Bonanza ore came down from Virginia yesterday to the Auburn mill.

— The Episcopal church Sunday school will have a picnic at Wellman's island a week from to-morrow.

— The Saddle Rock restaurant will be sold out by the Contable to-morrow to satisfy a judgment in favor of J. C. Hagerman for $78 40

— Alfred Jose this morning took out to Pyramid among his other freight the windlass, tubs, etc., to be used in sinking the first fifty feet of the Sherman shaft.

— The mosquitoes turned the town into a sort of gymnasium last night. Everybody slapped his own face fifty times a minute and felt like slapping somebody else's.

— The south side of the flume which carries the water of the mill ditch under the iron bridge has become loosened and about a third of the water escapes and flows into the river.

— The chap, Jim Sullivan, who was arrested Friday night by Constable Barlow, put in an appearance yesterday morning and was given until 4 o'clock to appear for sentence. Of course he did not appear.

— Two disturbers of the peace were arrested Sunday evening by one of the officers, and were yesterday led into the presence of Justice R. He disposed of them with the admonition to go and sin no more.

— A little after 10 o'clock this morning a slight shower of rain fell and inspired the false hope that the air was about to be purified and the dust laid. In a few minutes, however, it was as dry and uncomfortably hot as ever.

— R. P. Ferguson has started a drive of blocks for 2,000,000 shingles from a point five miles above Truckee to his mill at Camp 16, seven miles this side of Truckee. The drive will be down in about a week.

— A meeting of the members of Washoe Company No. 2 was called for last night at Judge Richardson's office to decide what should be done with that $211. As there was not a quorum present the point was left unsettled.

Bob Wright, of Mackay & Fair's camp, reports that there are about 50 men at work in the mountains. They are engaged in making a clean-up at present. A new wood contract will be let shortly, when the force of men will be largely increased.

— The Jones & Kinkead bullion now being turned out at the Auburn mill is 900 fine. The highest notch reached by the roasting process was about 850 fine. It will be seen therefore that the ore does better when milled.

— Sheriff Lamb went out in the direction of Steamboat yesterday and conveyed the pleasant news to five Italians that they had been fined for taking water from the irrigating ditch, contrary to an injunction of Court. The fines aggregated about $300.

— It is expected that between the 1st and 15th of next month train Nos. 5 and 6 will be run as fast freights, to be run by way of the Vallejo short cut. It is also said that about the same time a swing train will be put on between here and Truckee.

— Miss Mary Taylor, who a week ago yesterday opened a private school in the public school building during the vacation, is meeting with deserved success. Beginning with eight pupils, Miss Taylor has now twenty. The lady is a thoroughly good teacher.

— Professor D. R. Sessions arrived yesterday from the Comstock and Carson, and after a brief stay departed for Elko. The Professor is casting his learned eye over the political field, and figuring up his chances of getting away with the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

A Laborious Life.

Most people suppose the life of a tramp to be one of ease and idleness. They don't know the hard work a poor tramp has to do sometimes. This whole afternoon six of them have been lying at full length on the shady platform of Earl's depot toilsomely watching a Pute sawing wood.

HURROO!

Dennis Kearney Goes Alist Like a Jintleman.

At half-past 2 o'clock yesterday morning the east-bound overland train paused, after its steady habit, for half an hour at this metropolis. Knowing that the great California agitator, Dennis Kearney, was on board, a GAZETTE reporter was on hand with a few other workmen to receive the famous leader. About a score of the sons of toil forewent their rest for the pleasure of grasping the great man by the hand. The GAZETTE reporter expected to find in Kearney a man of powerful frame and striking presence, and swung himself upon the platform of the sleeper in some trepidations as Reno journalists are not accustomed to swagger around arm-in-arm with men of national reputation.

"Where's Kearney?" asked the reporter of a sturdy little man in blue whom he bumped against on the platform and thought to be the brakeman.

"Who?" inquired the man.

"Because I want to see him," replied the anxious reporter.

"Putt both yer eyes on him, thin," cried the little man in blue, throwing out his chest and thrusting a thumb into each arm-hole of his vest.

"Are you Kearney?" asked the reporter, not a little surprised.

"Lay yer boots on that," cried the small person. "It's the layder of the Workingmin that stands before ye! Are ye a reporter?"

Before the puzzled journalist could reply the train came to a standstill and the admirers of General Kearney were crowding around him, shaking him by the hand and offering warm congratulations in a general way. The scene for a few minutes was very animated, all the night birds having by this time congregated.

"You're the boss, Dennis," shouted a voice.

"Where's Jones?" demanded Kearney.

While the great agitator paused for a reply the reporter had a good opportunity to observe him and the result of the observation was a vivid recalling of the fragment of Scripture: "Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth."

HOW DENNIS LOOKS.

A more insignificant person than Dennis Kearney does tramp along the road. He is short, but stout and broad-shouldered. Rather fair complexioned, he has yet a sand lot sunburn upon his features. And speaking of those features the end of the pen takes an upward turn. Dennis has a broad face, a decisive chin, thin lips, unbrushed teeth, a half-pug nose, and a light-colored moustache of a straight, bristly sort. The eyes of the agitator are small, gray in color and deceitful in expression. In the matter of forehead Kearney is not wealthy. It is not broad and not above two inches high, the brown hair of the great man growing down to a point to within an inch of the straight, heavy eyebrows. In addition to these attractions Dennis has a brogue that Williamson or Murphy might shed blood for.

"Good bye, b'yes; God bless ye. Kape yer ind up an' damn capital!" were the leader's last words as the train drew out. The GAZETTE reporter remained on board, having made up his mind to accompany the great man to Wadsworth.

THE AGITATOR WAS AFFABLE, and shared a seat on the platform with the journalist.

"It's a great country," said Mr. Kearney.

"It is," replied the reporter.

"An' the laborin' man is bound to come on top."

"But," objected the reporter, for the sake of argument, "if the—"

Here the conductor appeared and ordered both off the platform.

"Good avenin'," said the agitator.

"I'm goin' to me slavin' berth."

"You're getting to be high-toned, Kearney," said the reporter.

"An' fwhy not?" demanded the agitator, fiercely.

"No reason in the world," admitted the reporter, meekly.

"Fwhat's the reason I'm not as good as the thaves in broadcloth, that I shouldn't thavel in a palace car?" angrily asked Dennis.

"Luk at me. See the ovations that do be haped an me fwherever I goes. Fwhin I luk at the crowds that crowd be the deppos to luk at me, I jist want to rise me vice so that the divil himself cud hear it, and shout, 'The Chaynase musht go!' Fwhat do I intind to do do Aist? Shfir the workin'min into action. I'll shake Boshon to the cinter. Fwhin will I be back? Widin six wakes, young feller. But in thim six wakes the vice av Dennis Kearney will be ringin' through the crowded metropolises av the dinsely populated Aist. Oh, I'm the only able frind av the workin'min, an' they appryciate me. Liss thin a year ago I was droivin' a dray. Luk at me now!"

The reporter did look. He saw a little, vulgar, cunning fellow, dressed far too well for a man of his face and figure, and he thought Dennis was in luck. The last impression was confirmed on reaching Wadsworth, where Dennis invited the reporter into the bar-room of the Railroad hotel, and in paying for two whiskies found some difficulty in picking out a ten from a handful of twenties.

"Good-bye, me b'ye," said Dennis at parting. "Gimme a blasht if ye loike. Abuse is half av fwhat I live on. I'm goin' to lay meself down in a slavin' car now, wid the other high-toned and successul min av prominence."

A Promising Convert.

A heretofore temperate and respectable citizen last evening attracted considerable attention by charging around the saloons and drinking furiously. When he bumped up against the GAZETTE reporter he (not the reporter) was roaring drunk.

"Hooray f'r er scarlet woman," exclaimed the shameless man.

"The what?" asked the shocked reporter.

"Er time an' time, an' half a time an' (ic) er two-horned beast an' er whole layout in Dan'l an' er Rev'lutions."

Then the gentleman managed to explain that he had been attending the Second Advent meetings and had become converted.

"World's comin' to nend, (ic) young f'ler," explained the convert, "an' damner man 'at won't go in f'r good time unner 'em circumstances. Less-taker drink."

The reporter, of course, sternly declined.

Everybody's Platform.

"My offence is rank, it smells to heaven." Thus sayeth the man who was not clothed by Cohn & Isaacs.

"A king of shreds and patches"—The man who never saw M. Nathan.

"Potatoes pottle deep"—served at all hours by Joe Crews, at the corner of Commercial Row and Virginia street.

"The rankest compound of villainous smell that ever offended the nostril"—can be knocked in the head with the help of those choice perfumes sold by W. Pinniger, druggist.

"Dost thou think, because thou art virtuous, there shall be no more cakes and ale?" If you do, go to George Becker's and try some of his Swiss cheese and Anheuser.

"He is well paid that is well satisfied," and that is pretty much the case with those who get their black-smithing done at McFarlin's.

A Drunken Cat.

There is an impressive aid to temperance at George Becker's saloon on Commercial row. It is nothing less extraordinary than a black cat with the jim-jams. The dissipated animal is merely a kitten, but it is an advanced drunkard. It learned to drink the drippings which fall into the trough under the faucets of the beer kegs and after remaining for several weeks in a state of happy tight, has now blossomed into a fit of the delicious horrors. The animal cuts up all sorts of extraordinary pranks—flying over chairs, rolling about on the floor, bounding into the air, tumbling over itself and chasing its own tail by the half hour. When pussy wearies of these performances she trots to the trough and keeps up the drunk. The cat is not at all dangerous, seeming to be in the best of humor and enjoying its sinful course immensely. Becker is awfully proud of that cat.

A Hanging Postponed.

Those who have been looking forward with pleasant anticipation to seeing the neck of Ah Chouey stretched on the 31st of the present month, must lay away their little permits and smother the sigh of disappointment. Sheriff Lamb this morning received notice that the Court had ordered a stay of execution, pending the hearing of the application for a new trial. When the news was conveyed to the gentleman chiefly concerned he said in effect that he was sorry he hadn't the money to set 'em up for the jail. Thus it may be perceived that the wicked heathen has no desire to be jerked to Joss, but prefers rather to sensually grovel in beer.

A Sermon on Newspapers.

On Sunday evening Rev. W. C. Gray took "Newspapers" for the subject of his evening's discourse. The gentleman, unlike many clergymen, is evidently an admirer of the press. He spoke of its great influence, with which that of the pulpit can hardly be compared, as the newspaper has a tremendous advantage in the number of its audience. He believed that the press was generally on the side of morality and did noble work for education, art, science, and everything that benefited a community. Mr. Gray admired the enterprise shown in journalism—in that it was far ahead of every other profession. Dealing with the defects of the press the gentleman considered the newspapers gave too much space to criminal news, but the people demanded that kind of reading. He advised people to read the newspapers, and, what was quite as important, pay for them. He also exhorted his hearers to support the local paper.

In this connection we may state that the GAZETTE is only $10 a year. Job work neatly and promptly executed.

A Grateful Tramp.

A GAZETTE reporter observed a humble, weary looking man going from door to door on Commercial row this forenoon, sadly and weakly asking for a scrap or two of food to keep him from starving. Some of the housewives were quite generous and handed him out quantities of broken victuals. The man tucked the food away in his pockets and continued to beg until he had gathered enough to feed three men. Then the reporter saw him go down Virginia street and descend to the river bank under the iron bridge, where he fed and refreshed himself from time to time from a large bottle which he took from an inside pocket. Passing over the bridge half an hour afterwards the reporter saw the poor tramp rise, stretch himself and yawn and slowly make his way up to the street again. There the poor fellow slouched up to a fence, wrote something on it with a stub of pencil and walked leisurely up toward the railroad track to wait for the east-bound freight. Here is what the grateful fellow wrote on the fence: "To hell with Rene."

NOT A CANDIDATE.—The new local reporter of the GAZETTE finds it necessary to state at this hour (3:30 P. M.) that he is not a candidate for any office. He has been in Reno three days and on the GAZETTE twice that number of hours yet, such is his modesty, that he has no desire to be County Clerk or Sheriff or District Attorney. This statement is made necessary by the fact that nearly every man the fresh reporter has been introduced to has taken him aside confidentially and inquired: "Whatter you goin' to run fur?" The mistake is a natural one, of course, but the reporter's chief claim to fame is that among the newspaper men of Nevada he alone is content with private life.

A WISE OLD DOG.—A highly honored and generally liked resident of Reno is "Mac," Dick Smith's dog. Mac, in his young days, was a mighty hunter, but now he is old, fat, stiff, and so lazy that a bird might perch on his back and be safe. Mac has learned the value of writing. Long ago he was taught to carry an order in his mouth to the hotel kitchen for his dinner. As the order always produced the grub, Mac, like a wise dog, saw that he had a good thing on orders, and now, whenever hunger assails him, he hunts around till he finds a clean bit of paper, picks it up and with cheerful confidence makes his way into some kitchen and presents the same. Mac hardly ever eats without first going through this business form.

BUSY CARRIAGE MAKERS.—The carriage makers of Reno have earned a first class reputation and have plenty to do. W. J. Luke has just finished a neat spring wagon which can also be converted into a carriage at will, for Peleg Brown, the price being $400. J. L. McFarlin has completed a thorough-brace spring wagon with cover, for a party in Sierra valley, and it was hauled out this morning. Both vehicles are capital pieces of work.

A PROSPEROUS REGION.—C. W. Perry, who has just got in from a tour of Indian, American, Clover and Genesee valleys, reports that region to be in a very prosperous condition. The crops are better than ever before, and the people, among other blessings, appear to have plenty of money.

Warlike Workingmen.

By permission of Judge Wright, the workingmen will on Saturday evening next hold a meeting at the opera-house for the purpose of forming a military company. This is an excellent idea. Some young workingmen who labor all day with the seats of their trousers on dry goods boxes will find handling a musket a pleasant and healthful exercise, though apt to blister the horny hand. A full attendance is requested.

ARM SCALDED.—Superintendent Rolker, of the United Brooklyn, met with quite a painful accident in the mine on Thursday last. A steam pipe near where he was standing burst and scalded his right arm pretty badly. The parboiled limb is well enough now to be out of a sling, but Mr. Rolker shakes with his left.
